Annual WRRRA Fall Dinner Meeting

Saturday October 24, 2015—Starting at 5:00 p.m.
Greenwater Fire Station

We encourage everyone to join us for the annual Fall Dinner Meeting to elect new board members, get updates on key issues, and socialize with your fellow cabin owners. Based on previous feedback from our members, we are holding the meeting near the cabins at the Greenwater Community Center/Fire Station. Also per feedback, the plan is to start early, cover business topics efficiently and effectively, and increase time for socializing. Once again we will have childcare as an option for those with young kids.

President's Message

Greetings all:
Where did summer go? It is hard to believe it is over and fall is here already.

Speaking of summer, thanks to everyone who contributed to making our summer picnic, the cabin tour and the HWY 410 clean up successful. We had a wonderful day with warm weather, good food, and fun and games. It was good to see how many "older kids" enjoyed taking part in the games alongside many children.

While we could have used a few more hands at the picnic especially in setting and cleaning up, those who always show up bring that "spirit" that makes our organization great.

Of special note for me was being able to visit with a number of long time cabin owners who do not get up to the cabin area that often anymore, maybe because of age and distance. I enjoyed reacquainting and visiting with their family. It is very special that our cabins mean so much to so many and that family members ensure parents can attend and can enjoy visiting with friends and neighbors and recall memories. And thanks to all of our local businesses, the Greenwater Fire Station Staff and other friends who contributed to the day and evening in many ways. We appreciate all of you.

Plan to attend the Fall Dinner and Business Meeting on October 24th. A focus for the evening will be officer elections, and discussion regarding CFA fees beginning 2016. I look forward to seeing you there. ~Rena

WRRRA 2015 Calendar

- Saturday, October 24: Fall Dinner & Business Meeting
- Sunday, October 25: Road Clean Up hosted by Silver Creek
- Saturday, October 25: Mushroom walk in the forest; 10:00 a.m.
- Nov 7: Half-day board planning meeting

Silent Auction Items

Thanks to all of you who in the past have donated items to our SILENT AUCTION. We invite everyone to participate again in making this a fun part of our evening together at our Fall Dinner Meeting, October 24, 2015. What do donate? Be creative. It can be something new, a white elephant in good shape, maybe a favorite from your wine shelf or some savory baked items. Please bring something.

The funds raised are dedicated to our WRRRA Cabin Defense Fund. We want to continue to build our reserves for this important cause. Thank you!

Guided Mushroom Walk October 25

Come join Dr. Erica Cline from University of Washington Tacoma (a co-owner of one of the Silver Creek cabins) on a free mushroom and forest ecology walk in the Silver Springs campground. Meet at the Silver Springs campground entrance at 10 a.m. Sunday, Oct 25 for an approximately one-hour exploration of mushroom diversity and the importance of mushrooms for the forest. Kids and dogs welcome! Dress for the weather—we won't cancel for rain.

2015 Board Candidates

WRRR Board Elections will take place at our Fall Dinner Meeting on October 24. The following board members are up for election and have provided information for your review. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor during the business meeting.

Incumbent Silver Springs Rep Mark Wellington

I have enjoyed serving this current board term and am looking forward to running again and continued service to WRRR

My family are the long time cabin owners of lot #148 - the "Chipmunk Lodge". My parents purchased the cabin in 1970 as the third owners. Begun in 1939 and built by a single man, the main cabin wasn't finished until 1954. Even after improvements through the years, I can attest to the fact that chipmunks still roam the rafters and outer buildings nearly at will. I grew up skiing at Crystal Mountain most winter weekends and have many fond memories of childhood summer hikes in the area. I am the oldest of three siblings who now utilize the cabin in the "second generation." I have enjoyed skiing and staying at the the cabin independently since college in the late 1980s. Eventually three good friends from college went on to become cabin owners themselves after spending many lively and entertaining weekends there during our younger years. Kevin Orth in Silver Creek and John Campbell and Geoff Coburn in the Goat Creek area are all current active cabin owners. These days I am busy as the father of three daughters, ages 6 to 13. I enjoy any time I can spend up at the cabin with them and my wife, Mariko, as we create our own family memories. After having been an independent member of the WRRR for many years and attending my share of picnics and dinner meetings, I look forward to having an opportunity to become more active in the WRRR. Thank you.

Incumbent Silver Creek Rep Kevin Orth

I am a Northwest native who grew up skiing at Alpental, but switched to Crystal Mountain in my teen years to get more challenging terrain. I started hanging out in the Silver Springs cabin tract over 20 years ago – the Wellington family became very good friends of our family, and we all spent many wonderful weekends at their "Chipmunk Lodge" over the years, both in the winter for skiing, and in the summer for hiking and mountain biking.

One particularly memorable visit to the Wellington cabin was over Thanksgiving weekend in 1996, and there was a lot of fresh snow on the ground. We walked through the cabin roads all the way up to Goat Falls, and I think we really got "cabin fever", thinking about how great it would be to have a place of our own, as my wife Kendra and I started our own family. We bought our cabin, Silver Creek cabin #26, across from the sled-ding hill, 13 years ago. We have two girls, Amelia (age 13) and Lauren (age 11) who love being up at the cabin, skiing in the winter, hiking in the summer, and even love our cabin mouse "Bob".

Kendra and I have climbed Mt Rainier, and have done many of the hikes and bike rides around the cabin area. We love to spend time at the cabin and try to get up as often as we can. I have been at Starbucks Coffee Company for almost 25 years, in a variety of roles in the corporate headquarters in Seattle. We live nearby, on Mercer Island. I have been the Silver Creek rep since 2009, and have led the Social Committee and organized the dinners and picnics over the past few years. I look forward to continuing my involvement in the WRRRA for years to come.

Incumbent Goat Creek Rep John Campbell

It has been a great pleasure to serve on the WRRRA board these last two years and with your support would gladly serve another term. For those that I haven't met already, I am a Northwest native who grew up on Mercer Island and currently live in the Wallingford neighborhood of Seattle with my wife Lucie and two daughters Gabby (11) and Kate (9). My family has deep ties to Forest Service cabins. Our "Lake of the Woods" family cabin in S. Oregon is filled with pictures and stories spanning four generations.

In 2006, looking to create similar memories for our children a bit closer to home, we partnered with the Coburn family and purchased the "Cedar Chest" cabin on Goat Creek (GC4, directly across the Silver Creek bridge).

For the last 16 years, I have worked in technology building and managing mobile data services for wireless carriers like

AT&T and Verizon. As the Goat Creek representative, I look forward to meeting more of the WRRRA community and helping preserve the legacy of these amazing cabins.

Incumbent Treasurer Kevin Bannon

Let me thank you all. It has been a pleasure to meet you, and work with you while serving your needs. Your dues, extra donations, volunteerism, service, as well as willingness to advocate for the cabin program are why we are here today—safe for the next few years. Let us not overlook either your valued contributions to the WRRRA history collections, of stories, pictures, and documents.

Please allow me to lend my talents, and work for you to make sure WRRRA funds are accurately accounted for and properly spent for another term. I will continue to be an advocate for savvy fiscal practice as well as managed contingency reserves to cope with present and future challenges.

Over the past 2 years with support from the board, I found and we now have economical and adequate business insurance. Now if an accident occurs at a WRRRA event, we have resources to deal with it.

We have also recruited WRRRA members Curt Thompson and Tom Wood to form an independent financial committee to help audit the books, and recommend financial policies. Their service is appreciated and we look forward to even more contributions.

The committee would be pleased to have you to join them. All backgrounds and points of view are valued. I encourage you to offer your name by talking to me or emailing Treasurer@wrra.net. Thank you again for all of your support.

Incumbent Dalles Rep Mary Anne and Chuck Gillett

We have been cabin owners for 27 years and active with the WRRRA since the beginning. Chuck is a past 2-term WRRRA President and Mary Anne has served as a board member for several terms. We have the knowledge and experience in dealing with issues that affect us as cabin owners and being a part of the upper White River Valley. Chuck is a general contractor, and he has worked on many projects in the area.

Incumbent Secretary Anne Turner

I have been serving as the interim secretary since Fall of 2014 and am pleased to throw my hat in the ring for a full term.

I “married” into our cabin, SC #2, over 20 years ago. My husband’s family has been involved with Crystal Mountain and the WRRRA since they acquired their cabin in the early 1970s. My husband Perry participates in Crystal Mountain’s volunteer ski patrol, and our daughter Lucy (15) is an avid skier.

The secretary supports communication and membership, with the website, newsletters, membership roster, and directory being key responsibilities of this role. I am enjoying serving WRRRA and learning

2015/16 WRRRA Directory Released

We are pleased to announce the release of our bi-annual directory which was mailed to current WRRRA members with the Fall newsletter. Each current WRRRA member will receive 2 copies of the directory. We use our most current member roster as the source for the directory information. So, if you note any errors or updates needed for your listing, email secretary@wrra.net and we will update the membership data.

You may notice that this version of the WRRRA directory does not include advertisements. We did not have enough volunteer participation to mount an effective campaign to procure advertisements. If you are interested in helping with the 2017/18 directory preparation and ad procurement, we will be delighted to hear from you!

CFA Updates

Implementing the Cabin Fee Act: What it means for your new permit fee

The Cabin Fee Act (CFA) was passed by Congress at the end of 2014. It replaces the appraisal-based fee determination system that existed under CUFFA. The goal is to have the new CFA fees communicated to permit holders in the 2016 billings.

You may read the summary of the Cabin Fee Act, which appears on the National Forest Homeowners website (www.nationalforesthomeowners.org). The summary covers the overall act and some other features in the law including, for example, the new $1,200 Permit Transfer Fee that applies when changing ownership.

The CFA Fee Table includes eleven Annual Fee Tiers ranging from Tier 1 (Fee $650) to Tier 11 (Fee $5,650).

As mentioned in the NFH summary, the USFS is in the process of establishing

Tier	Tier Size	No. of Permits	Permit Fee
1	6%	834	$650
2	16%	2,224	$1,150
3	26%	3,614	$1,650
4	22%	3,058	$2,150
5	10%	1,390	$2,650
6	5%	695	$3,150
7	5%	695	$3,650
8	3%	417	$4,150
9	3%	417	$4,650
10	3%	417	$5,150
11	1%	139	$5,650
Total	100%	13,900	$2,205

and assigning fees for all 13,900 special use permits. These will be ranked by appraisal value, typical lot, and date of value; and assigned to fee tiers upon completion of the last appraisal cycle under CUFFA. White River cabin lot appraisals were completed in 2009 and the USFS has provided us with initial fee estimates.

The initial estimates have our lots assigned to Tier 2 ($1,150) or Tier 3 ($1,650). According to these estimates, any lot appraised under CUFFA in 2009 at $22,000 or higher will be assigned to Tier 3 and any lot appraised under $22,000 will be assigned to Tier 2. This represents a fee increase for all White River lots. We were asked to review typical lots, 2009 appraisals and total lots for accuracy. A small group including Bill Goodman, Albert Pollmar and Rena Irwin, together with Denny Coughlin, Special Use Administrator, reviewed the information, identified some discrepancies and provided those corrections to both NFH and USFS.

This review process is being followed for all 13,900 lots across the country. Pending the number of changes identified in the outcome of that overall review, there is potential for change in the national rankings, which could have some impact on projected tiers for White River lots. Given the information we are reporting at this time, however, Tiers 2 and 3 are the ones that likely will apply to our lots at White River.

CFA and the New Transfer Fee

If you have a plan to change the name on your permit to another person or sell your cabin, be aware that you can avoid paying the new Transfer Fee if you initiate this action in 2015 prior to the full implementation of CFA in 2016. Check with Denny Coughlin for further information. Please reference the article on the NFH Website, reproduced here:

Dear Cabin Owners,

As we move closer to the 2016 implementation of the Cabin Fee Act, cabin owners should be aware that there will be a transfer fee of $1,200 invoked whenever there is a transfer of ownership in a cabin and a new permit is required. It is currently unknown what exemptions, if any, will be contained in the new rules.

NFH leadership is advising cabin owners who intend to change their ownership arrangement and/or name of the permit holder to consider initiating their request to the USFS during 2015. The USFS has informed NFH that permit change requests initiated in 2015 will not be subject to the new Transfer Fee.

We are currently in discussions with the USFS about how the Transfer Fee will be implemented and hope to have more information to share later this year. Feel free to share this information with all

Snowplowing & Road Maintenance

Note: the Snowplow and Roads committees and funds are NOT an official function of WRRRA and are staffed by volunteers to maintain accessibility to the cabins in the Silver Creek, Silver Springs, Goat Creek and Deep Creek tracts (not the Dalles tract).

Overview: Cabin owners are responsible for maintaining the roads in the cabin tracts per the terms of our permit. The exception is FS 7174 to Corral Pass through the cabin area is to be maintained by the Forest Service. FS 7174 is used by the general public to access the campground and trails at Corral Pass. However, access to Corral Pass is closed at this time due to the poor condition of the road beyond the gate.

Roads Fund

The Roads Fund spent $7,000 in 2013 to maintain this road and its condition has deteriorated, primarily due to heavy use by the general public, especially in the lower steeper sections. Despite the permit terms, the Forest Service has no current plans or funds to maintain this road in the cabin area.

The existing Roads Fund ($12,500) is being used for necessary repairs to the SE end of FS 7175, leaving a zero balance. We will be asking for a donation of $80/cabin to replenish the roads fund for necessary work next summer.

Snowplow Fund

There is a significant balance in the Snowplow fund and a minimal contribution of $20/ cabin is all that is needed for the upcoming season.

For this plan to work, it depends on the participation of ALL cabins. Expect a letter in Oct/Nov requesting your cabin's contribution of $100 per cabin.

This is an appropriate time to continue the discussion of how to handle roads and snowplowing in the future. WRRRA has in the past been reluctant to take on this responsibility. Please provide your ideas on how we, as cabin owners, should organize ourselves for road maintenance and snowplowing. Note that WRRRA has currently no authority to assess and/or collect fees. Send your ideas and comments to: snowplow410@live.com

DEER/ ELK Crossing Signs

You have probably noticed the blinking signs along HWY 410 warning of Elk and Deer Crossing. These are a great addition intended to warn motorists that animals may be in the area. Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT) reports that these signs have been installed in areas where high numbers of deer or elk/vehicle collisions rates have been documented.

During a 10 day period last month, I came upon two deer/vehicle accidents on Hwy 410. In addition on the way from the cabin to the picnic in July, there was a near miss right ahead of me. Certainly this raises my awareness about the importance of watching and driving slowly.

Each year more than 1,100 wildlife/vehicle collisions are reported to the Washington State Patrol. It is apparent that not all collisions with the wildlife are reported since WSDOT removes an average of nearly 3,500 deer and elk carcasses from Washington highways annually. These collisions result in an average of 1,190 human injuries and two fatalities per year.

Deer and elk/vehicle collisions are more widely distributed on the west side of the Cascade Mountains, but there is a high rate as well on Whidbey Island, along State Route 20 and State Route 525. High numbers of elk/vehicle collisions have occurred in the Packwood-Randle vicinity on U.S. 12 and on Interstate 90 near North Bend.

In addition to elk and deer, it is reported that in the state there are a few collisions with other large mammals such as moose, bighorn sheep, cougar and black bear. The more commonly killed smaller species are raccoons, coyotes, squirrels, rabbits, opossums, fogs, salamanders and snakes.

Cleator and Waugh: Designers of White River Summer Homes

National Forest visitor registering his name, address, and destination. Snoqualmie National Forest (Forest Highway).

Early national forest visitor pausing to register on Snoqualmie Pass Highway from USFS: Recreation Uses on National Forest, Frank Waugh.

As World War I was winding down, the US Forest Service was thinking carefully about its future. A new and aggressive competitor, the National Park Service, was on the scene and they were in tune with America's love with wildland recreation. It was clear if the National Forest System was to thrive, and accepted by the American public, the Forest Service needed to do more, especially in the area of recreation.

Frank Waugh, author of influential landscape policies was also an avid musician—wikipedia.org

Frank Waugh, one of the country's first landscape architects, was hired. Waugh wrote a policy guide Landscape Engineering in National Forests. White River is one of the nation's best examples of his vision—1-acre lots for more privacy, retention of native plants, crooked roads, undeveloped corridors, and rustic building materials, nearby placement of campgrounds, commercial sites, group camps and ranger office forming an ecological colony. (A village sounded too permanent.) Waugh continued to collaborate with the Forest Service until 1926.

Cleator was an avid photographer and his reports were full of pictures showing the early Forest Service at work. Foresthstory.org

After the planners are done, it's time for the builders. Ours, Fred Cleator, was assigned to the Rainier National Forest in 1919, laying out our lots on the White River as well more on the Naches side of the forest. Cleator's lots were laid out using Waugh's principles, as were the subsequent cabins built thereon.

Many more summer home tracts in Washington and Oregon were laid out by him. He surveyed the route of the Oregon Skyway Trail, facilitated completion of the Washington Cascade Crest Trail, and was one of the first advocates for Pacific Crest Trail realized later.

A wildlands advocate, Cleator designed the plan for the then Forest Service administered Olympic National Monument, designating most of it high altitude wilderness and planned other scenic corridors in Oregon. Another job, during the depression (seeming wishful thinking at best), was identifying locations suitable for ski resorts. While it would be well after WWII, with Cleator long since retired, before that file was dusted off, planners for future resorts found much of the hard work already done for them.

Most of all Cleator was an advocate for summer homes opening more lands and recruiting more cabin pioneers. Because of his persistence, Oregon and Washington rank second and third respectively for the most cabins in the national system. His 1930 summer home guide distributed from ranger stations to encourage new summer home owners can be downloaded at the National Forest Homeowners Association Web Site.

It was said that under Cleator's administration, Washington and Oregon set the standard for forest service recreation development that the rest of the system and in some cases even the National Park Service could only envy.

After 35 years of federal service Cleator retired in 1943. This was not to be the end of his influence on the White River community. Six years later, Cleator was hired by the State Parks Commission. One of his first jobs was to plan a ski area on state park land at Mt. Pilchuck.

A project he was most proud of was honoring a request from the Washington Federation of Women's Clubs for help. For years they had been raising money to purchase and preserve an old growth corridor along a major state highway. Their previous effort to buy and preserve a strip of land on the Snoqualmie Pass highway had gone badly.

Their second attempt to secure property by Greenwater was hugely successful.

The result we know today as Federation Forest State Park. In his honor, the Federation Forest Park trails are known as the Fred Cleator Interpretive Trails.

Much is owed to Waugh creating the White River cabin community as it is today, so much valued and appreciated for it's natural, and rustic elements. To Cleator we owe appreciation for paying due respect to Waugh's vision laying out a landscape that is beautiful and valued today while recognizing without his enthusiastic promotion of the cabin program, our community likely would not have grown and thrived. It is no small wonder historians share with us that this is a special place bestowing special status as a qualifying national historic district.
